

Non-disclosure agreement for volunteers in the Norwegian Red Cross

Adopted by the National Governing Board 13.09.2019, last updated 19.02.21

I hereby undertake not to use, disclose or otherwise make available to any unauthorized party information about personal data or business knowledge or information that I have become aware of during my involvement in the Norwegian Red Cross.

Confidentiality also applies after the involvement as a volunteer in the Norwegian Red Cross has ended. In some special cases, one can or shall be exempted from preserving confidentiality.

This applies to, for example:

- a. when the person entitled to have its information treated confidentially agrees to waiving this obligation
- b. when a person is obliged by national law to disclose otherwise confidential information
- c. when the volunteer becomes aware that a child is exposed to neglect or abuse
- d. when a volunteer, participant or employee is subjected to a criminal act in connection with a Red Cross activity

Further details on the duty of confidentiality and the exceptions to this can be found in a separate guide.

I confirm that I have understood the content of the duty of confidentiality and that a breach of this duty may lead to the exclusion from an activity under the Regulations of the Norwegian Red Cross. Relevant to positions of trust in the Red Cross, a breach of the duty of confidentiality may lead to suspension.

I will also take great care in discussing the Red Cross activities that I have become aware of or experienced as a volunteer in the Norwegian Red Cross.
